

A Fireside Chat with PIC's Chief Economist Daniel Enemark & S.F. Federal Reserve Bank President

Recap: Earlier this month, the County of San Diego, the San Diego Workforce Partnership, the University of San Diego, and PIC partnered to present the 40th Annual San Diego County Economic Roundtable.

- County Board Chairwoman Nora Vargas opened the event and was joined by speakers Timothy Keane, Dean of the USD Knauss School of Business, A.J. Moyer, President and CEO of C3 Bank, and Tony Young, Interim President & CEO of the San Diego Workforce Partnership.
- This year's event featured special guest SF Federal Reserve Bank President Mary Daly and PIC's Chief Economist, Daniel Enemark, who interviewed her about her forecasts and insights on 2024's economy.
- President Daly is one of just 12 people who collectively decide the cost of borrowing money in the world's largest economy.
- Kyra Green, Executive Director of the Center on Policy Initiatives, moderated a robust discussion with Jerry Sanders, President & CEO of the San Diego Regional Chamber of Commerce, and Carol Kim, CEO of the San Diego County Building Trades Council.
